Hey, diddle diddle,

Little Mann laughed to see the sport,
But Mann got away with the spoon.

WELL, HOW DID HE WIN?

Portland, Me., March 15.—Four out of the five city elections in Maine were won by the Republicans. The only Democratic success was in Biddeford, where Leopold A. Glard was chosen. The successful Republican mayors are Blaine S. Viles, in Augusta; John F. Woodman, in Bangor; Frank H. Nickerson, in Brewer, and William K. Keene, in Belfast.

SPECIAL MISSIONARY PROGRAM.

The Epworth League of the Aberdeen church will give a missionary program Thursday night at the church. Eleven church will be represented and an interesting program with special music will be given. The public is cordially invited to come.

Mrs. T. B. Kennedy died Sunday at Pittsburgh. She was a resident of this city about ten years and has numerous friends and relatives here.

STRAWS STILL POINT.

Washington, March 15.—Political straws still continue to point to increasing Republican sentiment over the country. The first state wide primaries ever held in Indiana showed a remarkably strong Republican vote, with a much smaller Democratic vote, and that of the Progressives approaching the vanishing point. In Iowa a municipal election at Muscatine resulted in a Republican landslide, all the Democrats in office being replaced by Republicans. In Maine the election in cities resulted in Republican victories, and the unseating of Democrats.

L. & N. PETITION OVERRULED.

Judge A. M. J. Cochran in the United States District Court at Frankfort, overruled the petition of the L. & N. for a modification of his opinion in the 1913 franchise tax case, requiring the road to pay on an assessment of $23,000,000. He also required the road to pay on the same amount for 1915 before a temporary restraining order is issued. The road had paid on $16,000,000 already.

Reports That Carranza Has Villa Surrounded Will Not Interfere With United States Army Plans.

Washington, March 15.—While there were indications in official dispatches from Mexico yesterday that the Carranza government was making a supreme effort to capture Villa and his bandits with its own forces, there was no sign that General Funston's orders to proceed on the same mission had been modified in any way. Word that American troops had crossed the border was still lacking.

Congress took active notice of the situation yesterday for the first time. The House passed a joint resolution late in the day authorizing the re-equipping of the mobile regular army to full strength. This means the addition of approximately 20,000 fighting men to the infantry, cavalry and field artillery. The Senate is expected to concur today and the necessary orders will be issued immediately to fill up regiments on border duty.

The step was suggested by the army general staff. It is urgently desired not because of the weakening of the border force by the expedition, but ever since the patrol of the border began the army has been greatly handicapped by the skeleton organization of regiments, companies, troops and batteries. The force around Vera Cruz had similar difficulties, some of the companies being less than forty men strong.

Secretary Baker conferred yesterday with Senator Chamberlain and Representative Hay, chairman of the Congressional military committee, and later Representative Hay returned to the War Department accompanied by Representative Kahn, ranking Republican member of the House committee. The resolution was introduced immediately by Representative Hay upon his return to the capitol. Its consideration was expedited by unanimous consent and its passage followed with only Representative London, Socialist, voting against it.

Steps were taken to make it certain that distorted versions of the American purpose in sending armed forces across the border were not given wide circulation in Mexico. By cable, telegraph, radio and mail full statements of all that has transpired since the raid upon Columbus and of the attitude of the United States government in its reciprocal agreement went forward to consuls and state department agents throughout the southern republic. The intention is to keep these officials fully informed in order that they may correct immediately and authoritatively any misstatements or misapprehension in their districts. Also, they will be able to advise Americans with a full knowledge of the situation.

In effect the United States has established a publicity bureau in Mexico to make clear its peaceful purposes toward every resilient of Mexico with the exception of Villa and the bandits who raided Columbus.

STATE NATIONAL BANK

Reaches the Million-Dollar Mark in Its Statement—Splendid Showing.

Elsewhere in this issue of The Public Ledger will be found the statement of the State National Bank of this city, on March 7, 1916.

The statement must be very gratifying to the officials of the bank as well as the citizens of this city, when it is known we have a financial institution in our midst doing a million-dollar business, and this, too, in face of the fact that we have four other banks and two trust companies, all in good, sound and flourishing condition.

The total resources of the bank are $1,000,804.76, divided partly as follows: Loans and discounts, $507,949.49; surplus and undivided profits, $30,084.81; individual deposits, $720,764.37; other deposits, $49,955.58, making total deposits $770,719.95.

This is a showing that is hard to beat in a small city like Maysville, with only 7,500 population.

The officers are Mr. Charles D. Pearce, president; E. T. Kirk, vice president, and H. C. Sharp, cashier.

The Public Ledger congratulates these gentlemen upon the splendid showing thus made and wishes them continued success.

Man From Maysville Dies Suddenly At His Home In Florida.

Mr. William C. Nicholson, one of the Maysville Water Company's engineers, Tuesday received a telegram announcing the sudden death of his brother, Mr. Ross Nicholson, at his home in Zolfo, Fla.

Mr. Nicholson had been a great sufferer from asthma, and his death was due to asthma of the heart, he dropping dead after a severe paroxysm of coughing.

He was born in this city and was 50 years old. He was a son of the late James Nicholson, and was married several years ago to a lady from Milwaukee, and after a stay there he removed to Florida, where he became a successful orange grower.

He is survived by his widow and two brothers, William C. Nicholson, of this city, and John Nicholson of Cripple Creek, Col.

A REAL BALLPLAYER

Milton, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas
M. Russell, in Training With Philadelphia Nationals.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Thomas M. Russell and interesting son Milton, went to St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend the balance of the winter, and they had hardly gotten there when the Philadelphia National baseball club "blew in" for their spring training.

They had not gotten the traveling "kinks" out of them before Master Milton Russell made their acquaintance and soon had unfolded to them his good points as a player of the great national sport, and after they began "working out" on the park lands, Milt was there too; and a letter received here states that he now looks, acts and practices like a regular, and if all signs don't fail, he'll be on the pay roll before many years of one of the big league clubs.

Milt is now out of the back-lot league.

The meeting announced by the Woman's Club for Thursday afternoon at the Elks' Home, will be held at the Mission on Sutton street, as repairs being made at the Elks' Home will not be completed in time.

HAS THE VEIL BEEN RENT?

A Chicago newspaper claimsto have discovered that Colonel Ed ward Mandell House, confidential adviser to the President, and unof ficial ambassador to the world-at-large, is the hitherto anonymous au thor of "Philip Drue, Administrator," published in 1912.

The incidents leading up to the revelation are said to be these. When the book was published, Colonel House handed an autographed copy to his intimate friend, Senator Culbertson of Texas. The Sen ator placed the book in his library and maintained appropriate se crecy. But one day a friend borrowed the novel, saw the signature, and after almost bursting with the momentous discovery, found him self unable longer to keep the secret. The rest of the story followed the usual channels.

"Philip Drue, Administrator," is the tale of an American revolu tion of 1920 to 1935. Drue is a sort of a benevolent Diaz who be comes dictator. He revolutionizes the courts, places all human relations on a perfectly just basis, kicks over the antiquated Amer ican constitution, puts the people in the saddle, and throws stock exchanges, trusts and other handwork of the old system into the garbage can. In idle moments this modern Cromwell revises state governments, municipal charters, and interstate affairs, invents new battleships which are impervious to shell fire, and does many other odd jobs of a similar character. When he gets through the United States is as perfect an organization as a Quaker household and as secure as a worm in a walnut.

Having found that Colonel House is the author of this book, polit ical students are now trying to find out whether the novel reflects the colonel's own mental processes.

The clearing up of this point, we admit, would be interesting. Lit tle has been known of the impulses which govern Colonel House, the suave man of mystery. We should like to peep within his mind and see what has been stored up there. We should like to know whether the Colonel wrote "Philip Drue" (if he did write it) as a warning or the expression of a hope; whether he approves of "Drue," whether he actually thinks the American constitution is a relic and no longer fit for use. In short we should like to know better just what kind of a man it is who has been entrusted by the President with such im portant confidential missions abroad. The colonel is now home from Europe. Maybe we shall soon find out.—Times-Star.

WILSON'S LAST LAP.

On March 4 Woodrow Wilson entered upon the last lap of his Presidential course. The home stretch is full of pitfalls and obstacles and he is already nearly tuckered out with past exertions. He does not dare look back and it is an unpleasant prospect that stretches out before him. When he began the course he was the "masked marvel" of national politics. Today the mask has slipped "way off to one side and he is seen for what he is, a man with no fixed convictions who is willing to play with the most sacred of national affairs, the supreme court and the foreign relations, in order to obtain a personal political benefit.

Under these circumstances it is small wonder that Wilson has lost his stride as he enters the last quarter of his Presidential course. Winded and weakened, he hopes with desperation for some unex pected piece of luck to help him through. His supporters realize that nothing else can save him. Henry Watterson has lately said, "If Wilson's luck does not desert him, he will be re-elected." But a President who looks for luck instead of clinging to character to give him success is in a bad way.

Some one asks what has become of the people who could formerly be entertained for hours by asking and answering conundrums. Well, they are too aged to go out much now, and their children find eating Welsh rarebits less fatiguing to their overstrained intellects.

Ten million dollars worth of jewels, it is said, are being worn by one group of society women at Palm Beach. Meanwhile there are millions of women who make themselves very attractive and charm ing without having to resort to costly artificial aid.

Cream of tartar, derived from grapes, is used in Royal Baking Powder because it is the best and most healthful ingredient known for the purpose.

Phosphate and alum, which are de rived from mineral sources, are used in some baking powders, instead of cream of tartar, because they are cheaper.

If you have been induced to use baking powders made from alum or phosphate, use Royal Baking Powder instead. You will be pleased with the results and the difference in the quality of the food.

Stingaree

BY E. W. HORNUNG.

Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons.

But the next act of this moving melodrama was not the least charac teristic of the chief performance, for when Stingaree and partner had been not only handcuffed but lashed hand and foot and incarcerated in separate log huts, with a guard apiece, and when a mounted messenger had been dispatched to the barracks at Clara Corner and the remnant raised a cheer for Bishop Methuen it was then that that fine fellow showed them the still finer stuff of which he was also made. He invited all present to step back for a few minutes into the place of wor ship which had been so charmingly prepared, so scandalously misused and where he hoped to see them all yet again in the evening if it would not bore them to give him a further and more formal hearing then.

"I won't keep them five minutes now," he whispered to Carmichael, as the men went ahead to pick up the chairs and take their places, while the bishop hobbled after, still in his pa jamas, and with terribly inflamed and swollen feet. "And then," he added, "I must ask you to send a buggy at ager's mood lifted, and the life on Mul ferra slipped back into the old blinding and perspiring groove.

Then one night, a night of the very week thus sensationally begun, the in genious Chaucer began one of the old, Stingaree Took His Incarceration Philosophically, but Howie Was a Most Weebegone Individual.

Stingaree and Partner Had Been Not Only Handcuffed, but Lashed Hand and Foot and Incarcerated in Sepa rate Log Huts, With a Guard Apiece.

once for my poor chaplain. He did his gallant best, poor fellow, but I had to leave him fallen by the way. I am an old miller, you know. It came easier to me, but the cinder path and running shoes are a different story from hot sand and naked feet. And now, if you please, I will strike one little blow while our hearts are still warm."

But how shrewdly he struck it, how straight from the shoulder, how sim ply, how honestly, there is perhaps no need to tell even those who have no previous knowledge of back block Bishop Methuen and his many ways. Stingaree took his incarceration philo sophically, but Howie was a most wee begone individual.

What afterward happened to Stin garee is another matter, to be set forth faithfully in the sequel. This is the story of the purification of Mul ferra station, N. S. W., in which the bush rangers played but an indirect and a most inglorious part.

The bishop and his chaplain (a good man of no present account) stayed to see the police arrive that night and the romantic ruffians taken thence next morning in unromantic bonds. Comparatively little attention was paid to their departure—partly on account of the truculent attitude of the police, partly because the Episcopal pair were making an equally early start in an other direction. No one accompanied the armed men and the bound. But every man on the place, from home stead, men's hut, rabbit's tent and boundary rider's camp—every single man who could be mustered for the nonce and a horse run up for him—es corted Dr. Methuen in close cavalcade to the Mul ferra boundary, where the final cheering took place, led by Carmichael, who, of course, was foot and origin of the display. And Carmichael rode by himself on the way back. He had been much with the bishop dur ing his lordship's stay, and he was too morose for profanity during the remainder of that day.

But it was no better when the man old stories on the moonlit veranda, and Carmichael stopped him while that par ticular old story was still quite young in the telling. There was an awkward pause until Carmichael laughed.

"I don't care twopence what you fel lows think of me," said he, "and never did. I saw a lot of the bishop," he went on, less aggressively, after a pause.

"So we saw," assented Smart.

"You bet!" added Chaucer.

For they were two to one.

"He ran the mile for Oxford," con tinued Carmichael. "Two years he ran it and won both times. You may not appreciate quite what that means."

And, with a patience foreign to his character as they knew it, Carmichael proceeded to explain.

"But," he added, "that was nothing to his performance last Sunday, in get ting here from beyond the boundary in the time he did it in—barefoot! It would have been good enough in shoes. But don't you forget his feet. I can see them—and feel them—still."

"Oh, he's a grand chap," the over seer allowed.

"We never said he wasn't," his ally chimed in.

Carmichael took no notice of a tone which the youth with the putty face had never employed toward him be fore.

"He was also in his school eleven," continued Carmichael, still in a reflec tive fashion.

"Was it a public school?" inquired Smart.

"Yes."

"The public school?" added Chaucer.

"Not mine, if that's what you mean," returned Carmichael, with just a touch of his earlier manner. "But—he knew my old head master—he was quite a pal of the dear old man. We had such lots in common," added the manager more to himself than to the other two.

The overseer's comment is of no consequence. What the bookkeeper was emboldened to add matters even less. Suffice it that between them they brought the old Carmichael to his feet, his glasses flaming in the moonshine, his body thrown pugilist ically backward, his jaw jutting like a crag—the old Carmichael in deed, but not in word.

"I told you just now I didn't care twopence what either of you thought of me," he roared, "though there wasn't the least necessity to tell you, because you knew. So I needn't re peat myself. But just listen a moment and try not to be greater fools than God made you. You saw a real man last Sunday, and so did I. I had al most forgotten what they were like, that quality. Well, we had a lot of talk, and he told me what they are doing on some of the other stations. They are holding services something like what he held here every Sunday night for themselves. Now, it isn't in human nature to fly from one extreme to the other, but we are going to have a try to keep up our Sunday end with the other stations—at least I am, and you are going to back me up."

He paused. Not a syllable from the pair.

"Do you hear me?" thundered Carmichael as he had thundered in the dormitory at school, now after twenty years in the same good cause once more. "Whether you like it or not, you fellows are going to back me up!" And Carmichael was a mighty man, whose influence was not to be with stood.

(The End.)

HOUSE PASSES RESOLUTION FOR TAX COMMISSION.

Frankfort, Ky., March 14.—A reso lution which passed the Senate Satur day was also passed in the House yes terday morning providing for the ap pointment by the Governor of three members of the Senate and four mem bers of the House to serve as a tax commission without compensation.

Under the resolution the commis sion is to complete its work by the first of November, submitting a tax bill to the Governor, who may then decide whether or not to call an extra session.

The passage of this resolution in dicates that a special session will be called probably about the first of next year.

The resolution offered by Senator Speer Saturday is to limit the extra session to thirty days. Members of the House and Senate generally agree that a commission of some kind is necessary before any tax legislation is possible. The resolution as passed avoids the objection that the commis sion would incur a heavy and un nec essary expense.

DON'T BE MISLED

Maysville Citizens Should Read and Heed This Advice

Kidney trouble is dangerous and often fatal. Don't experiment with something new and untried.

Use a tested kidney remedy. Begin with Doan's Kidney Pills. Used in kidney troubles 50 years. Recommended here and everywhere.

A Maysville citizen's statement forms convincing proof. It's local testimony---it can be investigated.

Henry Callenstein, blacksmith, Poplar street, Maysville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the best of kidney medicines. I have used different kinds and no other has ever equalled this one. When my kidneys were out of order and I had pain in my back, I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They stopped the pains and my kidneys became strong. The cure has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy---get Doan's Kidney Pills---the same that cured Mr. Callenstein. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

REDS ENJOYING GOOD TRAINING WEATHER.

Shreveport, La., March 14.—A day that made union suits of northern parentage an anathema and a mock was served up to our rapidly progressing Reds yesterday. The thermometer was close around the 85 mark and the sun blazed down from a cloudless sky. Emboldened by this tempting condition, Manager Herzog staged another Heiniger vs. Wildrig practice game. Instead of the regular afternoon workout and was richly rewarded for his choice. The Heinigers turned the tables on their chesty conquerors of last Saturday in a five and a half inning game of ball that was worth two bits of any bleacherite's good kale. The score was 2 to 1, but one error marked the entire matinee and the athletes in general performed like a gang who has about found itself.

Emmer is stationed regularly at the third sack for the colts and his performances to date have been entirely satisfactory to Manager Herzog. His batting ability seems to be rather weak but he is strong on clean fielding.

What About the Teeth?

Statistics show that only about 14 out of every 500 New York City school children have sound teeth. Probably similar conditions prevail elsewhere.

There's a Reason! And it lies to a great extent in the demineralized foods that make up the usual diet of children. The body must have its quota of mineral elements—lime for the teeth, iron for the blood, phosphate of potash for the nerves, etc.—or disaster is pretty sure to follow. Many foods—especially white bread—are woefully lacking in these vital mineral elements.

The famous food,

is rich in these elements. It is made of whole wheat and malted barley, retaining the mineral salts so abundantly stored in the grain by Nature.

Grape-Nuts is easily digested, appetizing, and highly nourishing. Along with other food, a daily ration of Grape-Nuts does much toward correcting dietetic faults in both children and adults.

"There's a Reason"

REVOLVER DRAWN IN KENTUCKY HOUSE DURING ROW.

Frankfort, Ky., March 14.—Gun play figured in the House proceedings yesterday afternoon. Attempting to make Representative Harvey take his seat during the uproar caused by Representative Greene refusing to take his seat, Marshall B. Williams, acting assistant sergeant-at-arms, drew a revolver from his holster, but cooler heads intervened.

Harvey shoved Williams belligerently as they were standing in the aisle before the gun was drawn.

Greene persisted on a point of personal privilege, endeavoring to get the half-gallon bill up for passage. Acting Speaker Meyers, after Greene persisted in screaming that the chair was unfair, directed the sergeant-at-arms to make him take his seat. The approach of two assistants walking side by side infuriated Greene, who proceeded down the aisle toward the speaker with both hands upraised, declaring that he would obey the sergeant-at-arms, but no deputies appointed by the chair.

In the rear of Greene the episode between Harvey and Williams took place, while members congregated in the aisles and the crowd in the gallery leaning far over the rail cheered the spectacle.

Greene finally subsided and walked back to his seat with Sergeant-at-arms Bowman.

Greene charged that the committee appointed by the speaker was "packed."

Harry Meyers, Covington, member of the committee, denied the allegation of Mr. Greene, whereupon the latter became so bitter that two sergeant-at-arms slipped between him and Meyers. The latter said he had been sick, but he would permit no man to run over him, and that if it was a fight the gentleman from Carroll desired he would accommodate him on the outside.

At this point one of the assistant sergeants-at-arms undertook to seat Greene.

The bill of S. L. Robertson of Louisville, prohibiting condemnation of railroad right of way for other purposes, bitterly opposed by the Western Union Telegraph Company, was taken up in the House late in the afternoon. The bill then was passed by vote of 84 to 10.

THOUSANDS OF RATIONS SHIPPED TO THE BORDER.

Chicago, March 14.—Orders to ship 790,000 rations of meat, weighing 640,000 pounds, to the Mexican border, were received by Colonel A. D. Kniskern, acting quartermaster of the central department, United States army, here yesterday, and the first shipment was made ready with remarkable speed and shipped at once. The order includes 200,000 pounds of bacon, 272,000 pounds of corned beef, 128 pounds of roast beef and 40,000 pounds of corned beef hash.

GERMANY MAY RELINQUISH BELGIUM IF THE ALLIES ACCEPT PEACE TERMS AFTER CAPITULATION OF VERDUN.

Washington, March 15.—Should Verdun fall into German hands, it is learned here, Kaiser William will declare the campaign of the central powers ended, provided certain peace terms of which President Wilson is cognizant, will be accepted by the allies.

Colonel House, shortly after his return from Germany, it is said, laid before the President Germany's tentative proposals as modified by recent months of warfare. Colonel House did not go to Berlin to discuss possible peace terms, but it is said, he did receive an outline of the German view of a proper settlement following the end of the war. The terms Germany would consider, confirmed by high German authority here, provide:

That German colonies taken by the entente allies be returned to Germany.
That no indemnities be demanded by either side.
That Montenegro, Serbia and Albania be divided among Austria, Bulgaria and Greece.

That an autonomous government be established in Poland.
That Turkey be entirely freed of British influences.

That Germany return Belgium and those portions of French territory in possession of the Kaiser's troops.

That Russia assume possession of Persia.

That England remain as she now is, neither giving nor receiving anything.
It is understood that Colonel House reported to the President that the entente allies were unwilling at the present time to consider peace. This belief is expressed also by high German officials, but one of the things that is understood to have made the allies firm in determination to continue the struggle was the belief that Germany would keep Belgium and would demand indemnities. But Germany will demand neither if peace can be brought about at the present time.

COOK APPOINTED.

Frankfort, Ky., March 14.—Governor Stanley "delivered the goods" yesterday when he appointed R. A. Cook, the wet Republican Representative from Christian county, who has been his Republican defender on the floor of the House and whom Representative W. M. Webb asked in the debate on the state wide prohibition bill if he "didn't have a deal with the Governor" by which he was to be appointed to state office as a member of the State Board of Control for Charitable Institutions. The Governor also appointed W. T. Figg of Shelby county, also a Republican, a member of the board. They succeed Dr. T. W. Gardner and Thomas Hall.

Senator Salmon said Representative Cook was from his district, and was "a very nice fellow, but wore a wet collar." "It seems to take that to go at Frankfort, however, so I will ask the Senate to concur in that appointment."

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN

Special Treatment Required.

Many women suffer from a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms are similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines usually prescribed do not restore the patient's normal condition.

There seems to be a kind of dyspepsia caused by derangement of the female organism. While this appears to be the same as ordinary indigestion it can be relieved only by a medicine which, besides acting as a stomach tonic, is good for female ailments. Read what such a medicine did for Mrs. Williams:—

She says:—"Before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with dyspepsia and bearing down pains in my back and sides, and after my meals my stomach would bloat up till I could scarcely get my breath. At times I was so weak I could hardly stand on my feet and I looked hollow-eyed and my skin was yellow. Now I have a good color, have gained in every way and can do my work without any pains. I think it is the best medicine on earth for stomach troubles of women."

K. E. A. TO MEET IN LOUISVILLE.

The Kentucky Education Association will meet in Louisville the latter part of April. Some of the best talent of the country will be on the program.

Teachers and trustees can not afford to miss it. This meeting is a great stimulus to school interests and affords an opportunity to visit and observe the best school system in the state at work. Do you want to see good teaching actually being done? If so, visit the Louisville schools during K. E. A. week.

They will be open to teachers, trustees and school people. Do you want to become progressive in school life? See the work being done by the schools of the state in manual training, domestic science and agriculture, and visit the schools of the metropolis.

School legislation is in good shape and there seems to be no indication to do the public schools an injustice. The legislators see the inconsistency of decreasing the school fund and it is believed that there will be no further attempt to shorten the school term or reduce the teachers' salaries. It is gratifying to find that our Senator and Representative are standing by the public schools and using their influence to prevent inroads upon the school fund.

A woman's heart is the most precious thing in the world to the man to whom she gives it.

GOATS' MILK FOR COUGHS.

"Go to the Hills and drink goats' milk" was the prescription given by Hippocrates more than 2,000 years ago for coughs, colds and bronchitis, but nowadays our local druggist, Pecor Drug Company, have a non-secret constitutional remedy just as certain which can be taken right at home. It is Vinol,—composed of the healing, medicinal extracts of cod livers, without oil, peptonate of iron for the blood and the nourishing properties of beef peptonate. It goes to the seat of the trouble, removes the cough and cures the cold. Vinol is a very reliable preparation.

FANCY HOGS.

(Lexington Leader.)

The Experiment Station farm has just sold forty hogs of butcher type to George Mastin at $9.10 per hundred at the feed lot. The herds are roughs, but in excellent condition and average about 200 pounds. They will be distributed among local killers. Last season the same type of hog sold at this season from the station brought $7.75. Discussing the outlook today Prof. E. S. Good said that he would not be surprised if the fancy hog in uniform herds should reach $11. The station has other droves to market when they are in condition.

To forgive and not forget is only half forgiveness.
